CONSTERNATION IN PROVIDENCE.

Is Wetmore's Entertainment to be Simply a Collation?

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, June 8.—Reports circulated on the street today have caused cold shivers to run down the backs of members of the legislature. These reports are to the effect that Hon. George Peabody Wetmore has changed his mind concerning the entertainment of the members of the General Assembly after his election as United States Senator at Newport on Wednesday next. It has been understood by the public in general and by the members of the legislature in particular that Mr. Wetmore is to open his house to the legislators and provide an elaborate spread for them. It was stated today, by a person apparently in authority, that Mr. Wetmore would entertain the Assemblymen, not at his home but at Hartmann's, and that the spread would be only a collation. This intimation is not especially pleasing to the members of the Assembly, and some of them are turning their eyes toward Westerly, where Senator Dixon resides, and is not considered to be averse to a return to his present place.

EIGHT BILLS CONSIDERED.

Busy Session of the House Judiciary Committee.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, June 8.—The judiciary committee of the senate had a busy session today, when it gave hearings on eight bills of importance, previous to making up a report for the adjourned session which meets at Newport on Tuesday next. The first bill taken up was that to repeal the act exempting parochial schools from taxation. This was opposed by Mr. C. E. Gorman and others, and favored by representatives of the city of Providence. The anti-policy law was next considered, and after that the others, which are not of so much general interest.

INDUSTRIALS DROWNED.

Boats Capsized While Making a Landing in Colorado.

BRIGHTON, Col., June 8.—The industrials arrived here, one or two boat loads at a time, during the night. Several boats have been capsized, and if the men landing are to be believed there were not less than twenty persons drowned. Two bodies have been brought in. It is impossible to give the names of those lost, as they were all known by nicknames.

Killed by Thieves in His Own House.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 8.—Greeley Douglas, a local politician of some note, was found dead in the kitchen of his house on Camp street this morning. The kitchen was open. Douglas's head was pounded almost to a pulp, and a bloody club was found in the yard. It is supposed that thieves attempted to enter the house during the night, and that Douglas grappled with them and was killed in the struggle.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT.

Dr. Meyer Receives His Sentence Apparently Without Concern.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Dr. Meyer has been sentenced to life imprisonment. After the sentence had been pronounced Meyer appeared unconcerned. He turned and whispered something in Mr. Brooks's ear. "Will the court defer sentence for a week?" said Mr. Brooks. "There are certain matters unsettled in Dr. Meyer's business that needs attention." "You can settle that with the sheriff," said the recorder, grimly. Meyer was taken back to the Tombs by a deputy sheriff and will probably be taken to Sing Sing this afternoon.

NO LACK OF FUNDS.

Evidence Presented to the New York Police Investigating Committee.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The senate police investigating committee resumed its sittings this morning. There is now no fear that funds will be lacking to carry on the investigation, as the subscription list opened by the Chamber of Commerce has swelled to $25,000.

Scapio Arteago, a saloon keeper, who has lived here since 1851, testified that in 1891, after an interview with a police captain, he opened a concert saloon without a license. On advice of the captain he saw one Wagner, and made an arrangement by which he was to pay $50 a month for the privilege of running a concert saloon without a license. He paid the $50 the first month, but was unable to pay the second month. Wagner then advised him to sell out. This he did, to Warren Lewis, whom Wagner brought to his place. Lewis ran the saloon without a license. He was arrested a short time afterward and told that if he paid $5 to the sergeant at the desk he could get off, but he did not pay the money. Witness said he could identify the police captain and wardman with whom he had dealings.

SEALING OFF THE JAPAN COAST.

Four Vessels Known to be Lost and Six Others Missing.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The latest news from the Japan coast is anything but encouraging to the sealers. In addition to the four vessels known to have been lost, it is reported that there are six sealing schooners missing. They are the Mary H. Thomas, Alton, Battler, San Diego, Unga and the Kate. Not only have they not touched at Hakodat or Yokahoma, but they have not been sighted by any vessels which have put in there. The missing sealers all sailed from San Francisco, carrying crews numbering one hundred and eight men in all.

No News Regarding the Bear's Mishap.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—No news has yet been received by the Treasury Department as to the reported wreck of revenue cutter Bear at Sitka, Alaska, and the officials are inclined to the opinion that the rumor is untrue.

THE JENKINS DECISION.

Minority Report from the Judiciary Committee

Congress Has no Consideration of the Law in the Case.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Representative William A. Stone of Pennsylvania has filed the minority report of the judiciary committee on the action of Judge Jenkins of Milwaukee, in restraining the employes of the Northern Pacific railway from striking. The report reviews the causes which led to the injunction and shows conclusively by quoting from Judge Jenkins's opinion that that gentlemen disclaimed any intention of preventing any of the employees from quitting the service in a peaceable, decent or reasonable way. Mr. Stone quotes from the majority report of the judiciary committee showing that Judge Jenkins acted in good faith, and that the testimony taken by them fails to show any corrupt intent on the part of that gentleman.

Continuing the report says: The labor question in its relation with railroads is one full of complication because of the public interest which intervenes. In ordinary cases between employers and employed the public have only a remote interest but here they have a direct interest; not only free passage from place is prevented, but supplies are cut off and business paralyzed. On the one hand it is for nobody's interest to cripple the railroad owners, for injury to them when made systematic and general would be death to all improvements and a hindrance to other railroad building; on the other hand, men are entitled to a fair wage in the settlement of the amount of which they must have a reasonable combined voice. It must be still further said that some method of adjustment must be had which will secure public traffic and the business of all the people from being interrupted by the disputes of those immediately interested. It can be seen at a glance that such a question cannot be settled by mere language or by bids of partisans, but must be settled by the concurrence of both parties on a common ground. The basis of settlement will be found when the people interested have had the benefit of many failures on both sides. We have great hopes that a basis will soon be reached first by finding what the law is, and second by agreeing to what it ought to be.

We therefore must decline to follow the majority into any disquisition as to what the law is. That seems to be under control of another branch and already in train to be settled authoritatively. But the attitude of the majority is one which ought not to pass without an inadvertence. If, as the committee says, "the testimony adduced before us fails to show any corrupt intent on the part of the judge," if also "it is altogether possible that he sincerely believes the orders granted by him were sanctioned by law" then the question should be left to the appellate tribunal. A federal judge in the exercise of his function having arrived at a conclusion without "any corrupt intent," a conclusion "he sincerely believes in," ought hardly to be harassed by a Congressional committee since he is quite as likely to be right on a point of law as they. Individually we may not believe his law was sound and may not think it will be so pronounced by the tribunal of appeal, but if he was honest and has given his honest opinion honestly it would seem as if the correction should come from another source and that the law should be settled by the proper tribunal prior to legislation. It may be no legislation is required and the appellate court will afford all the relief the country needs.

If on the other hand Judge Jenkins has been, we will not say corrupt, but unduly swayed in the exercise of his functions by improper influences, or has stated law so badly that it is plain that he has violated his evident duty as a holder of the scales of justice, as the arbiter between rival interests, then he should be impeached. In a word, if he has been corrupt, or has so wrested the law of the land that injustice has been done, so evident that it carries with it the proof of evil intent, then Congress has a plain duty to perform.

But if it be a mere question of law, then the judiciary have the duty to perform and Congress, by granting a court of appeals, has ended its duty. Of course the case is finished if the final appeal should demonstrate that the law is defective; then remedies should be applied, but we ought to know what the law is before we act. If it should be finally determined that Judge Jenkins was wrong, then the law may not need amendment. The committee think he was wrong and yet they propose to act as if he was were right.

So much for the legislation originally proposed. As for the resolution proposed later, we do not see how it could be justified. Were it demanded that we should vote condemnation of any proposition that involuntary servitude should be established by any interpretation of law, all sensible men would be agreed, and Republicans first of all, but to propose that a judge who, as the majority declare, had no "corrupt intent" and "who sincerely believes" in his conclusions, shall, without impeachment, be censured by the legislative branch of the government is to confound all distinctions between the legislative and the judicial powers and create a side tribunal of appeal where justice would be for sale to the suitor who could poll the largest vote. The report also bears the signatures of Mr. Ray of New York, Mr. Powers of Vermont and Mr. Updegraff of Iowa.

AT GRAY GABLES.

Mrs. Cleveland Arrives at her Summer Home.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., June 8.—Mrs. Cleveland arrived at Gray Gables this morning after an exceedingly pleasant and comfortable sail from Greenwich, Conn., on Mr. E. C. Benedict's steam yacht Oneida. The yacht dropped anchor off Monument Neck at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The sail up Buzzard's bay was delightful. There was scarcely a ripple on the surface of the bay and a gentle southwesterly breeze was blowing. The morning was so mild that the party enjoyed the air and scenery from the upper deck. A more perfect day to inaugurate Mrs. Cleveland's sojourn here could not be desired. It was in noticeable contrast with that of a year ago, when she arrived in a pouring rain storm. The party comprised Mrs. Cleveland, the Misses Cleveland, nurse, and governess. Mr. Benedict and members of his family did not come ashore till 10 o'clock when a full inspection was made of Gray Gables.

MILITIA ORDERED OUT.

Ohio Railroad Bridge Burned, and Further Trouble Threatened.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 8.—Governor McKinley has received a telegram from Sheriff Scott of Belmont county, appealing for troops. The sheriff says the Cleveland & Lorraine railway bridge near there has been burned by the miners, and great loss of life and destruction of property is threatened unless military aid is furnished at once. The governor issued an order to the Sixteenth regiment of infantry and Battery F of artillery, all of Toledo, to report here at once. Trouble is feared along the Norfolk & Western railway at any time.

MASSILLON, Ill., June 8.—The Cleveland, Lorraine & Wheeling railroad made another general effort early this morning to send out two trains from Wheeling Creek, with twelve United States marshals on board. Both trains were forced back to Bridgeport. One of the bridges just outside of Wheeling has been burned. Yardmaster Dunbar, at Massillon, has orders to be prepared to leave with his crew and all available passenger coaches, to transport the militia. The new Philadelphia militia company is still surrounded by miners at Canal Dover, and is prevented from joining its regiment at Cambridge.

A HEBREW COLONY.

Aid for Jewish Farmers in South Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—The government committee composed of chiefs of the bureaus of the ministries of the interior and of agriculture has drafted a scheme to organize a Hebrew colony in South Russia. The Hebrew farmers there work without government aid, while the Christians are granted land and agricultural implments. It is proposed to organize a colony in which all the Hebrew farmers scattered over South Russia are to be gathered. Grants of land and agricultural implements are to be given to them and the estates they now own are to be bought by the state.

Allowing two hours and twenty five minutes to complete the passage to Queenstown she will have made the voyage from Sandy Hook bar to Queenstown in five days thirteen hours and seven minutes, just one hour behind the record which is held by the Campania.

CALIFORNIA'S PROTEST

On the Refunding of the Central Pacific's Debt.

Railroad Magnate Huntington Severely Censured.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Californians opposed to refunding the debt of the Central Pacific railroad were given a hearing yesterday by the house committee on Pacific roads.

Ex-Congressman Charles G. Sumner said that he protested for the people of California against any funding scheme which would perpetuate the present management, one which had brought deplorable moral, political and financial calamity upon that state. He went into an exhaustive history of the road, declared that its cost had not exceeded $30,000,000, and that he thought it could be shown to have been about $15,000,000. Stanford, Huntington, Hopkins and Crocker had not been worth $400,000 all told in 1861, and in 1869, when the road was finished, they were worth $10,000,000 each.

Crocker has resigned from the directorate to make construction contracts with the others. For 500 miles over the plains the road, exclusive of materials, had not cost as much as the average turnpike. Eighty per cent of the enormous dividends had gone into the pockets of Stanford, Crocker, Hopkins and Huntington. Mr. Sumner explained the California law which made stockholders responsible for debts of a corporation.

Representative Maguire explained that the statute of limitations of California did not apply to the government.

Representative Bonthner of Louisiana repeated a statement made to him recently by President Huntington that he (Huntington) had never held more than four or 10 shares of Central Pacific stock, his stock being in the finance and construction company.

Sumner's Suggestion.

Mr. Sumner held that it was not necessary for the government to take control of the property, suggesting that the road might be turned over to the holders of the first mortgage. It was probably true, he admitted, as President Huntington had said, that the present traffic rates could not be reduced without impairing the value of the property, since it had to pay 6 per cent per annum on an indebtedness double its cost and three times its value.

He referred to C. P. Huntington as the "distinguished saint who appeared before you a few days ago in behalf of the 10,000 orphans and widows who were stockholders."

Again he spoke of "the atrocious highway robbery which had been perpetrated by Messrs. Huntington, Hopkins & Co."

When Representative Powers of Vermont asked how the government could make good its claim, Mr. Sumner said the first mortgage would eat up the road, and the branch lines were bonded for two or three times their value, so that the government had no recourse except by suits against the individual stockholders.

Representatives Kyle and Powers pushed the question as to whether the estates were sufficient to cover the government debts. The Crocker estate, Mr. Sumner said, had been incorporated, and was estimated at from $2,000,000 to 30,000,000; the Hopkins estate approximated $3,000,000; the Stanford estate admittedly at $17,000,000, and the Huntington the same.

Must Wait Until Bonds Mature.

It was suggested by Representative Bell of Colorado that proceedings could not be brought against the stockholders of the road until the security, the road itself, had been exhausted, and in the discussion it was said by Chairman Reilly that no proceedings could be taken against the estates until bonds matured; that only notice could be given of the claims against the estates.

Mr. Sumner said that Mr. Huntington had admitted having spent over $1,000,000 in past congresses for legislation. Incidentally Mr. Sumner charged that the Central Pacific had corrupted judges and legislatures, and had debauched the politics of California.

Representative Geary of California said he could not subscribe to the charges that the judiciary of California was debauched, and spoke briefly in favor of a foreclosure of the mortgage by the government. Hopkins and Crocker had been long dead, he said, and it was a question whether the government could recover anything from their estates.

If the right of action did not mature until the debt matured, there could be no action against the Stanford estate until some of the bonds matured, and there was no money forthcoming to pay them.

A Crank at the Capitol.

WASHINGTON, June 8. The perennial crank turned up at the executive mansion yesterday. He was a young man of distracted appearance, and announced that his purpose was to convert President Cleveland to ways of righteousness. He will be held for examination. His name is Hellenstein, a converted Jew, and he has been delivering extemporaneous sermons on the street corners for some time.

Trouble Over a Sun Dance.

GREAT FALLS, Mon., June 8.—The controversy over the sun dance by the Crees is waging. Sheriff Hamilton is said to be opposed to it, and had obtained the governor's proclamation prohibiting it, while the other side has its injunction from the district court restraining the sheriff, attorney general and governor from interfering, and intend to carry the matter to the supreme court.

THE SUGAR INVESTIGATION.

The Statement of Cadmus Made Public---Senators Brice and Call Testify.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The testimony of Representative Cadmus was made public yesterday.

Mr. Cadmus said that he knew Mr. Gaston, the Wilkesbarre (Pa.) wire manufacturer, and that on the 6th or 7th of March Mr. Gaston came to him and said: "I do not believe the tariff bill will pass."

When asked why he thought so, he said: "I was in my room last night and there were a number of sugar men, and I think senators among them, in the adjoining room, and from what I heard, I do not believe the bill will pass."

When asked whether Gaston had mentioned the names of any persons present in the room, Mr. Cadmus said: "I do not remember about that. He may have mentioned some names, but I do not recollect now."

Then he added: "I want to say positively that if I did recollect names, I should not give them to the committee, but I do not remember any."

He said, after further examination, that he did not think any names were mentioned. He said he had repeated the conversation with Mr. Gaston to Mr. Shriver of the New York Mail and Express two months after it occurred, but he said he had not told him more than he had told the committee. He said he did not remember having given Mr. Shriver any names. Repeated questions were asked on this point, but Mr. Cadmus has often declared that if he had given any names to Mr. Shriver, he had forgotten the circumstance.

Asked by Senator Lodge if his relations with Mr. Gaston were confidential, Mr. Cadmus said: "He knew that I had voted against the Wilson bill, and he knew I represented a very large manufacturing district, and he knew I was working very hard to get some changes in schedules for different manufacturing interests in my place, and after we were introduced, he would come to me and talk at different times about the tariff bill. He told me of different things he had heard about tariff matters, and I used to tell him things sometimes. That was the only relation between us."

Mr. Cadmus said Mr. Shriver had asked his permission to give his (Cadmus') name to the committee, but he had asked Shriver not to do that, as he did not wish to be mixed up in the matter. He, however, had not imposed any confidence on Mr. Shriver before he gave him the story, but he did not remember that he had told Shriver that he could use the story.

Senators Brice and Call have been summoned to appear before the committee.

SUCCESSFUL MINNEAPOLIS.

The New Cruiser Proves Herself Worthy of Uncle Sam.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The new United States cruiser Minneapolis returned at 6 o'clock last night from her preliminary, or builders' trial trip.

The big cruiser acquitted herself most creditably, proving herself the equal, if not the superior, of her sister ship, the Columbia. While it is true that the Minneapolis did not equal the record of 22:37 knots an hour made by the Columbia on her official trip, she did better than her sister ship did on the preliminary trip of the latter, the speed of the Minneapolis being 21:75 knots, while that of the Columbia was but 20:93.

This was accomplished in spite of the fact that the new ship had to burn anthracite coal, which is regarded as a handicap. As a result of this trial it is freely predicted that the Minneapolis will make at least 23 knots on her official trip.

Early in the morning, anchor was weighed, and the Minneapolis steamed out to sea the from Delaware Breakwater, a distance of about 50 miles. Then she turned, and at 10 o'clock started back again. Now she was under forced draught, and the cinders were flying from her funnels like hail.

The record made by the Columbia on her preliminary trial was 20:98 knots, so that the Minneapolis had beaten it by about three-quarters of a knot, and still has something up her sleeve. In horsepower, too, she excels the Columbia, having developed 20,800, while that of the Columbia is about 18,000.

Damage Not Yet Known.

PORTLAND, Or., June 8.—No accurate estimate of the damage by floods along the Columbia and Willamette rivers can be made. Idaho, Washington, Oregon and British Columbia are virtually shut off from the east by the floods. The Canadian Pacific roads have been washed out for hundreds of miles, and it will require weeks to repair them.

Excursion Wreck Denied.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The report of a wreck on the Canadian Pacific line, involving the destruction of a Raymond & Whitcomb excursion party, was received by The Examiner of this city from its Vancouver correspondent. Investigation shows the story to have been without foundation.

South Carolina Prohibitionists.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 8.—The Prohibition convention adjourned after deciding not to nominate a state ticket. All candidates for nomination on the Democratic primary will be asked how they stand in the Prohibitionist convention so that the Prohibitionists can vote intelligently.

An Indignant Deputy.

PARIS, June 8.—M. Etienne made an attack in the chamber of deputies upon the African policy of Great Britain, saying that it was destined to thwart France, and demanding that the French government shall sternly uphold the treaty rights of France.

Several Reported Killed.

BELLAIRE, O., June 8.—A report has reached here, but is not confirmed by inquiry, that the miners and soldiers had a collision near Mineral Siding, and that several men on both side were killed. Troops are still on their way to McLainesville.

Enterprising Counterfeiters.

HAMBURG, June 8.—The police have arrested a merchant and a lithographer for forging English and American notes, captured the presses which had been used in the work, and seized a large number of excellently counterfeited English 5-pound notes and American $5 bills.

Movements of Peixoto's Fleet.

MONTEVIDEO, June 8.—President Peixoto's fleet has sailed for Rio de Janeiro. General Saraiva, with 3000 insurgent troops, has arrived at Oruzaita, and is ready to begin an active campaign.

Loss of Property Feared.

DENVER, June 8.—A cloudburst in Platte canyon has again raised the river, and the people along its banks have been warned. Fears for property are expressed.

Miners Turning Brigands.

ROME, June 8.—A member of the chamber of deputies from Sicily says that 30,000 miners of the island are starving. Many of them are turning robbers, and brigandage has assumed alarming proportions.

An Exciting Bicycle Race.

ONEONTA, N. Y., June 8.—At the annual meet of the Oneonta Wheel Club yesterday, the race between Johnson and Bald, in the two-mile handicap, was the most exciting. Johnson won in 5m. 35 3-5s.

MONMOUTH'S MYSTERY.

New Clue Discovered in the Sawyer Murder Case.

MONMOUTH, Me., June 8.—Warren and Mahoney, two tramps, now serving time in Auburn jail for a petty offense, who were suspected of having murdered Joseph Augustus Sawyer, according to the evidence now in the possession of the authorities are believed to be innocent.

It has been said that these two men were seen in the neighborhood at the time the murder was supposed to have been committed, but State Detective F. L. Odlin, who has been at work on the case since the day of the murder, has announced that he has positive proof that they were far away at the time.

His testimony is backed up by the testimony of an engineer of the Maine Central railroad, who says that at the time when they were supposed to have been near the scene of the tragedy they were walking on the railroad track miles away, bound for Lewiston.

The engineer's statement was made voluntarily when he was informed that they were suspected, and that the authorities were working with a view of laying the crime at their door.

He knew the men well, and maintains that a mistake in their identity would be impossible.

Thus the only clew which has been thought to have value has been run down, and again mystery envelops the case.

The reward of $1000 offered by the town and the heir has attracted detectives from all parts of the country, and a score or more are now working on the case.

The fact that the murdered man was not the "poor farmer" that everybody supposed he was, but that he owned government, railroad and municipal bonds, and had accounts in banks in Augusta, Gardiner, Lewiston and Hallowell, has increased the interest in the affair.

Was Not a Poor Man.

For 71 years Augustus, as he was commonly known, lived in the town of Monmouth, and every one supposed he was a poor man.

It was discovered that he was not in the buildings on his farm were searched a few days ago. It was thought singular, when his property was being looked after, immediately after the murder, that at least a few dollars were not found, and it was decided by Albert A. Sawyer, a nephew, who was appointed administrator of the estate, that a search of every building ought to be made.

Trunks, chests, closets, etc., were overhauled, and the main building, where he lived was searched, but nothing of value was found, but in the woodshed, secreted behind a cabinet used for butter and milk, $12,008 in cash, bonds, etc., were found in an old feed bag.

This was a revelation to the heirs. They had not anticipated that more than a few dollars would be found. With the money, papers were found showing that he had property which no one ever dreamed he owned.

The finding of the valuables caused a sensation among the detectives, and they are working now on the theory that the fact that the murdered man had secreted in his house a small fortune was known to some person, and that the crime was committed for the purpose of robbery.

ON BEACON HILL.

The Meigs Transit With Its 50 Amendments Tangled in the House---Senate.

BOSTON, June 8.—The house debated all the afternoon upon the question of substituting the finance committee's rapid transit bill, eliminating state aid, for the Meig's transit bill. Nearly 50 amendments were offered, and the matter is in a complete tangle.

The bill relative to raising the grade and changing the location of the Providence division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at Heath street, Roxbury, was passed to be engrossed.

The senate amendments to the bill relating to the increase of capital stock by corporations owning or operating a railroad or railway by steam or other power, and of gaslight, electric light, telegraph, telephone, aqueduct and water companies, were concurred in.

In the senate the committee on railroads reported that the bill in relation to the increase of the capital stock and bonds of railroad corporations ought to pass. A supplementary bill, which came up for enactment, was laid on the table.

The report of the joint special committee on transit, leave to withdraw, on the petition for authority to build, equip and operate an elevated railroad in Boston, was placed in the orders of the day for Monday.

The bill providing that unless agreed to by landowners on both sides, barbed wire shall not be used on line fences, was referred to the next general court.

The senate substituted for the interchangeable mileage ticket bill a resolve referring the matter to the railroad commissioners.

The bill relative to contagious diseases among cattle and for repainting the state house, was engrossed.

An amendment to furnish Grand Army posts with copies of the state military and naval history, was added to the bill for distributing the book, and the whole was engrossed.

A Denver Bank's Trouble.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The comptroller of the currency has been advised that the German National bank of Denver has closed. In speaking of the matter the comptroller said: "This bank closed during the panic of last summer and reopened for business after being in the hands of an examiner for a month. The bank is solvent, so far as its creditors are concerned, but has been unsuccessful because of the lack of proper management on the part of the officers of the bank. It is probable that the bank will liquidate without going into the hands of a receiver."

The Sutherland Will Case.

LONDON, June 8.—The Sutherland will case was settled in the high court of justice yesterday without trial. Action was brought by the dowager Duchess of Sutherland, to have declared valid the will of her late husband, by which she was benefited 1,000,000 pounds. The present duke opposed the will. The settlement gives the duchess 500,000 pounds, besides an annuity of 5000 pounds.

BASE BALL.

Newports Win Their First Game at Morton Park.

The ball game yesterday on Morton Park was a rather tame one, though not because the visitors failed to make enough noise, for they did nobly in that respect, Wilkinson Perry and Connolly leading. As the last-named was the poorest player of the trio, he naturally led in the noise making. The noise was all good natured, and helped enliven an otherwise dull game. The visitors were a sort of job lot, including men who have played in various parts of the country, and at times showed that they know how to play. The home players, however, had little trouble in hitting McCormick, who pitched here last year, and gave the fielders considerable work. For the home club Tobin pitched for four innings, during which but three hits were made. In the fifth Schneider went in to relieve him, and, putting the ball over the plate easy, in the sixth allowed the visitors five hits. These with a base on balls and two errors gave them three runs. Ross, the new fielder for the home club, made a very good impression. Sully, who re-appeared on third, his old Pacific position, showed that he is still in the game, and Hoover at short also played well. Kaeppel handled the rather erratic pitching very well. The score is as follows:

Yesterday Manager Bayles of the New Bedford team was in town trying to arrange for the formation of a club or the securing of enclosed grounds in this city for use in a summer circuit to include New Bedford and some of the watering places along the coast. Manager Bayles has gathered a good team for New Bedford and has proved to be a hustling manager. Should he take hold of the question of a ball field for this city he would be more likely to succeed than any resident.

The project for an enclosed field for base ball and other sports has been under consideration for some time by some young men interested in sports, who have been looking for available grounds and making other preparations. Should such grounds be secured and properly fitted there seems to be no reason to doubt that they would be well patronized. People who pay to see the games would then have good seats, an unobstructed view of the players and would avoid many of the inconveniences inseparable from an open, public ground, like Morton Park, where every one can attend, and make all the noise they wish.

The exhibition given by the Newports in their opening game yesterday was one not calculated to help the team among those who wish to see good ball playing. "Crappy" Sullivan, who was expected to pitch, was found on second base, and Tobin and Schneider did the twirling, such as it was, and kept Kaeppel busy jumping around the ground between home base and the backstop fence. Neither of these players is a pitcher, though in an emergency Tobin is available to relieve a pitcher who is tired or ineffective. Schneider does not pretend to be even that, but was willing to do anything to help the team out. There has been some talk because the high school team had so many Saturdays for their school series, thus preventing the Newports from playing, but, unless the latter team can have some pitcher who can be relied upon, it would be better for them to leave the field entirely to the high school and boys' teams, which can be depended on to have their full strength on the diamond.

There will be no game, except by boys, at Morton Park tomorrow, and those who like to see a good game will accordingly have a good opportunity to take the 1:20 trip of steamer General, and see the Wickfords play the Woodbines at Wickford. This will be the last game in some weeks at Wickford; the sail up and down the bay is very pleasant, the grounds are pleasant and there will be plenty of Newporters to make the trip sociable.

CRUISER MARBLEHEAD.

Cruiser Marblehead made a brief stay at Newport, arriving here at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and proceeding to sea again shortly after 7 o'clock in the evening. The commanding officer of the Naval Station had received orders to have the torpedo outfit ready to be put on board as soon as the vessel arrived here, and immediately upon the Marblehead dropping anchor in the upper harbor the launch of the Torpedo Station was on hand and the torpedoes were placed on board and set up in the vessel's magazine. At 7 o'clock anchor was hoisted and the cruiser steamed out of the harbor under orders to proceed at once to Bluefields, Nicaragua.

This is the Marblehead's first cruise. She went into commission about two months ago and has been receiving her armament and stores at the Brooklyn navy yard. She is a 2000-ton steel vessel, schooner-rigged, and of the same class as the Detroit and Montgomery. She has a battery of eight five-inch, six six-pound and two one-pound breech-loading rifles and two torpedo tubes. Her commanding officer is Commander Charles O'Neill; Lieutenant Commander Charles G. Bowman is executive officer and her other officers are Lieutenant Martin E. Hall, Walter O. Cowles, Henry Minett and Reuben O. Bitler, Ensigns Theodore C. Fenton and Frank H. Schofield, Surgeon Edward H. Green, Chief Engineer George H. Kearney, Passed Assistant Engineer Clarence A. Carr, Assistant Engineer John H. Rowen, Passed Assistant Paymaster James H. Chapman and Pay Clerk W. A. Wallace. The ship's complement consists of two hundred and three seamen and apprentices and a marine guard of sixteen.

The poets sing of a fountain whose waters bring back lost youth,
But no one has ever found it. Still there's a germ of truth
In the dreamer's fable of fancy, for there exists today
A draught that banishes sorrow and drives despair away

From women whose lives have become a burden, on account of diseases to which women alone are subject. The well-known "Favorite Prescription" prepared by Dr. Pierce may not be able to bring back youth when it has flown, but it will restore lost health, and that will bring happiness, and so the draught is as magical in its effect as the fountain of youth was fabled to be.

Mrs. CATHARINE E. SIBLEY, of Andy, Wetzel Co., W. Va., writes: "After taking your Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I find I am entirely cured of 'female complaint.' I return my most sincere thanks to Dr. Pierce for my cure."

BANISHMENT OF ROGER WILLIAMS.

Edmund J. Carpenter of Milton read a scholarly and exhaustive paper on "Roger Williams and the Plantations at Providence," before the New England Historic Genealogical Society, at its monthly meeting in Channing Hall yesterday afternoon. In beginning, Mr. Carpenter gave the few facts known regarding the early life of Roger Williams and then traced his career in the colonies of Massachusetts Bay and of Plymouth. He showed from extracts from original records that he was of a contentious disposition and full of vagaries. He read from Williams's recorded words to show that the chief of his contentions were concerning the validity of the king's patent to the lands occupied by the colonists, urging the importance of separating from the Church of England, and denying the right of the magistrates to administer oaths of allegiance to unregenerate persons. As a result of this it was claimed in England that the colonial ministers were teaching sedition. A demand was made by the king's council for a forfeiture of the charter of the colony, and the fate of the settlement hung in the balance. It became necessary for the colonial government to repudiate such teachings, and several attempts were made to silence Williams without effect. It became imperative, therefore, to expel him, and the expulsion was voted, not in midwinter, as has been charged, but early in September. That he delayed and afterward voluntarily went into the wilderness in January to avoid deportation to England should not be laid to the charge of the colonists.

Mr. Carpenter contended that Williams was not expelled from Massachusetts Bay for teaching soul liberty, but that he became its champion after his settlement of Providence, and also distinguished himself as an advocate of civil liberty. Extracts were read from his writings that proved to be almost identical with extracts from the Virginia bill of rights and the Declaration of Independence.—[Boston Transcript, 7th.

PASSION FOR FIRST EDITIONS.

All book collectors agree on one point. They all succumb to the passion for possessing "first editions" of famous, notorious or curious books. The desire is not exactly grounded on firm reason, perhaps, for very often the first edition of a noted book is of all others the most useless, so much have succeeding editions been augmented or corrected. But it is not hard to see why there are certain pleasant associations connected with these first editions which no later ones can have. After all it was the very first form in which this particular book, afterward re-printed in so many forms and translated into so many languages, appeared to delight the reader and its author's pride.

At any rate, book collectors grapple firmly to that theory. At present first editions of Keats, of Shelley, of Tennyson, of Hawthorne, Poe, and even of Austin Dobson or Andrew Lang, are all the go. One of Poe's books, the "Tamerlane and Other Poems. By a Bostonian. Boston, 1824," sold a couple of years ago at Libbie's auction room in this city for no less than $1,850. At that time only one other copy was known—in the British Museum—but a few days since still another was reported to have been unearthed in Baltimore.

And here is a story which may be interesting. Its hero, if hero he may be called, who failed to rise to the great occasion, is a Boston book collector of good repute for veracity and accuracy of statement. He relates that a number of years ago he had the opportunity of looking over some books which had belonged to a second-hand dealer in Salem. The owner had died, and his stock was stored in a garret. Among the volumes which he turned over, the man who tells the story is positive that he saw no less than five copies of "Tamerlane," which could be placed upon the market today for, something like $5,000. He passed them by, and not long after the whole stock was consumed by fire.

In conclusion, just one word of warning to the ingenuous, but inexperienced, buyer before he rushes off to the nearest antique book stall. Before he pays out any considerable sum of money, let him be sure his book is of "right" edition; let him see that it is perfect, in good, clean condition, and if possible uncut; and let him look to it that he gets as close to the dealer's bottom price as he can.—[Boston Sunday Herald, June 10.

IS FLOWER-STEALING NICE?

People appear to lose their sense of moral responsibility where flowers are concerned. The most rigid moralist cannot resist his neighbor's lilacs, and the branch of an apple tree covered with flowers is not secure at the hands of the upright. During the spring the suburbs of all our cities are filled with flower thieves—not only poor boys and girls who steal flowers early in the morning or after dark in the evening, to peddle them on the streets, but people who ought to know better. Millionaires who pride themselves on their uprightness and integrity do not hesitate to stop their carriages and fill them with lilacs or syringas, and women who would hesitate to cheat the custom house (the highest test of female honesty) pretend to see no harm in entering private grounds, and pulling up armfuls of choice flowers planted near the highway by some too-confiding hand. Carriages loaded down with stolen flowers pour into cities every pleasant spring evening; and what is, perhaps, the worst part of the whole matter, these well-to do marauders do not even pick the flowers carefully, but, in their haste and fear of detection, break down great branches or pull up tender plants by the roots. The high masonry walls which shut off all private grounds from the highways in the neighborhood of London are not, perhaps, attractive to the public, but from the point of view of the owner they certainly have their advantages.—[Garden and Forest.

THE WATCH-FIRE.

The seas are running high,
The sudden fogs come low,
And 'neath the frowning sky
The petrels come and go.
In all the storm, no star
Points whither lies the land,
Save, flashing o'er the bar,
The watch-light on the strand.

Surer than flame or star
May pierce the sleet and foam,
Swift o'er the hidden bar
The sailor's thoughts fly home.
Love meets her own half-way,
And with her strong, brown hand
Guards, 'mid the driving spray,
The watch-light on the strand.

One, standing at the wheel,
Beholds the distant spark,
And mast-lights sway and reel
In answer through the dark.
One, waiting on the shore,
Knows none but love's commands,
And keeps brave vigil o'er
The watch-light on the strand.

Watch-fire upon the shore,
Love-light within the breast—
What though the breakers roar,
And sea winds find no rest?
Hope is thy better part,
Courage thy brightest brand;
Love-light within the heart,
Watch-light upon the strand.

Her tie was a fashionable four-in-hand. Her coat was a four-button cutaway. Her gloves were gray, and the spats on her patent leathers matched them. She wore a carnation in her buttonhole, and a very small feather was the only sign of femininity about her hat. She rather mystified the genial jag that had swung itself from a strap over her in the street car. ....Justice Henry B. Brown, of the United States Supreme Court, and Mrs. Brown, who sailed last Saturday by the North German Lloyd steamer Werra, bound for Mediterranean ports, will land at Gibraltar, and will spend the summer in Italy and Greece, and the early autumn in Algiers. In their trips abroad of late years Mr. and Mrs. Brown have almost always made the tour of the southern and eastern cities of Europe, and have spent much of their time in Spain and Portugal.

....General Henry B. Cleaves, who has just been re-nominated to the governorship of Maine by the Republicans, was born in that state, and is now fifty-two years of age. He enlisted in the Twenty-third Maine regiment when he was twenty-two years old, and served with great bravery until he was honorably mustered out of service in 1865. On returning home, he went to work in a sash and blind factory, but soon began the study of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1868, and soon went to Portland, where he has resided ever since. He has had a large practice, and is looked upon as one of the best lawyers in the state.

....Mr. Edward F. Burns, whom Mayor Bancroft of Cambridge has selected for membership in the water board of that city, is well known and highly regarded in the newspaper world, and this honor, which came to him entirely without solicitation, has given much pleasure to his many friends on the Boston press. For ten years Mr. Burns has been connected with the Boston Globe, and is now one of the leading members of its editorial staff. He has been a resident of Cambridge for many years, and in private life as well as in newspaper work is a gentleman of unblemished repute. He is a graduate of Boston College, an accomplished student of literature, and a man with a broad and well disciplined mind.

Systematic efforts have been made in different parts of the world to introduce a growth of trees where they had never been known, from which important results have followed in many instances. Egypt, which had formerly only about six rainy days during the year, has, since having planted trees on an extensive scale, already attained about five times that number. Sixteen square miles of the swampy, unhealthy country along the Bay of Biscay was planted with thousands of trees, especially the cork oak and swamp pine. The trees have drained the land so as to destroy the swamp fevers, and to change it into a healthy country with fine forests. Biscay law requires that for every tree cut down two shall be planted."

Newport Daily News

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1894

THAT INVESTIGATION.

Nobody appears to be satisfied with the results of the Senatorial sugar investigation. The Boston Post, Democratic, says: "The public sees only too clearly that the committee makes no attempt to get at the bottom facts. It takes what is offered and goes no further. * * * If the doors of Senator Gray's committee room had been open, and if the public had been present to look on and to hear, does any one imagine that these witnesses would have been allowed to skate so lightly over their ice, to be dismissed without a pretence of cross-examination, and to take with them the answers to unasked questions which should let in a flood of light upon the whole queer business?"

This is the way the affair is looked upon by the general public. The committee evidently set out to whitewash all the parties concerned, and lived up to its purposes to the best of its ability. It would have been far better to have had no investigation at all, for in that case only the persons accused would have been under suspicion. At present, and for all time to come, the suspicion will extend to members of the committee, as having acted a dishonorable part in the transaction and as having prostituted their office rather than do their duty to the public. Senator Lodge appears to be as quiet as any of his Democratic associates, and it is safe to assume for the same reasons. It would not be consistent with "Senatorial courtesy" to pry into these matters sharply and place blame upon members who may have gone astray. We have never believed that half the stories told were true, and it was in the power of this committee to relieve such accused persons as are innocent, as well as put the blame on any who were found guilty. But it could not be done to the satisfaction of the public by any sort of star chamber proceeding.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

Notwithstanding all that has been said about the improvement of business throughout the country, it is pretty plain to be seen that very little progress has yet been made in that direction. And in looking over the situation it becomes more and more apparent that something is needed besides legislation to make the people prosperous. In this respect the professional financiers have been sadly at fault. Many of them declared that the repeal of the silver purchase law would remove the incubus and afford the needed help. Such were the declarations of "Wall street" and the bankers generally, and the belief in its efficacy had much to do with the action taken.

The law was repealed, as it should have been, but no revival of business followed. And when we recall the history of the silver controversy from the first, we shall see that no especial changes followed either the adoption of the silver law or its discontinuance. According to theory there should have been marked effects for evil or for good in each case, but there were none.

And so it is not absolutely certain that the passage of the reform tariff bill, now reasonably assured, will effect any such sudden and marvelous change as many people anticipate. As affording a basis for business not likely to be speedily disturbed, it will have a good effect. But it is time to give up the popular and Populist idea that the government is responsible for business conditions to any such extent as has been claimed and quite generally believed. Business is much more dependent on the laws of trade, aside from politics, than on the laws of Congress, however good or bad. All legislative interference with the details of business, by which one industry is to be helped as against another, will in the end work mischief. As a matter of fact, the country is suffering today from too much legislation more than from any other cause.

FIGHTING FOR GAME.

There has been an oyster war of long continuance between Maryland and Virginia, growing out of the persistency on the part of the Maryland fishermen in raiding the oyster beds in Virginia waters. The following from the Richmond Dispatch shows a determination to punish invaders, should they continue their work:

From the fact that Governor O'Ferrall is resolved to arm the new Virginia police boat with the most deadly pieces of ordnance obtainable, the Maryland marauders may as well make up their minds that any future trespassing upon our territory will probably be at loss of life or limb. The people of this commonwealth emphatically demand that our laws shall be enforced in Pocomoke sound, and we warn all offenders that public opinion in Virginia will sustain the governor and the officers of our police boats in every effort that they make to compel obedience to all our statutes. The day of blank cartridges has passed.

Some at least of the Southern people are showing a commendable sensitiveness over Northern criticism of the speeches of General Rosser and Rev. Mr. Cane in their tribute to Jefferson Davis and his associates during the war. The Richmond Dispatch thinks that all such comments are based upon a misapprehension of the true state of the case and says: "The Southern people are none the less loyal to the nation or its flag because they stoutly contend that they fought for their 'rights' under the Federal Constitution. Virginia, for example, stipulated in her ordinance ratifying the Federal Constitution that she was to have the right to withdraw from the Union whenever she has oppressed or denied her rights. If her rights had been accorded to her she would not have tried to secede. So in trying to do what the other states had agreed she should do whenever she desired so to do, Virginia was in very truth fighting for her constitutional rights." It is always well to hear both sides.

New England has many words of welcome to the Presidential family. The Boston Post says: "Tariff bills may come and tariff bills may go, but the regard of the people of Massachusetts for Mrs. Cleveland goes on forever. As summer citizens of this commonwealth, the residents of Gray Gables come into a friendly community. Every hand is extended in greeting. May the summer breezes blow gently from Buzzard's bay for the mother and daughters, and the bluefish bite well for the father."

There is a tendency in New York to lengthen the governor's term. It was changed from two to three years by the last constitutional convention, and in the present convention it has already been proposed to make it four years. The governor's term in Pennsylvania and Indiana is four years, and in neither state is any desire manifested for a shorter term. And it really looks as though a little state like Rhode Island might get along with governors for two or four years and biennial sessions of the legislature.

The Christian Endeavor societies throughout the country have a membership of more than one million five hundred thousand young people, representing various churches, and are doing a splendid work. Next to it in this line comes the Epworth League, with a membership of eight hundred and fifty thousand, all connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In view of such facts it is pretty certain that the rising generation is not indifferent to religious things.

Massachusetts has one industry which is not affected by tariff legislation. It is that of gypsey moth extermination. Several hundred thousand dollars have been expended in trying to get rid of the pest, and the end is not yet in sight. The country subject to its ravages is thoroughly patrolled, and insecticides freely used, together with all other conceivable methods. A hundred thousand dollars have been appropriated this year, which will mostly be expended in payment for labor applied.

The fear that the sugar schedule will be tampered with in the House prevents the big boom in the trust that was anticipated, though the movement is decidedly upward. The country is making itself heard on the subject, and the protest against this favoritism towards the refiners is almost universal. And it is a fair question whether the tariff bill has enough good features in it to justify Congress to pass it at such a price.

The Westerly Sun says: "Civil war is nothing more or less than refusal to obey constituted civil authority. The riotous proceedings in many mining regions come very near to being war against the state." That is just what the Daily News has been saying for some time, but in many quarters the fighting is still reported as a disturbance.

The Boston board of aldermen propose to give the park commission of that city the magnificent sum of $1,000,000, which is to be borrowed for its use. The commission already had some $400,000 at command for park purposes and should now be able to do a good thing for its constituents.

The Boston police authorities are making some successful raids of the popular "gentlemen's" gambling clubs in that city. In one case they found a number of Harvard students, who were taken to the lockup where they remained until friends bailed them out.

The Boston Journal has come to be a great admirer of Senator David Bennett Hill of New York. There is an old saying that birds of a feather flock together. In this case the tie that binds is hostility to President Cleveland and all for which he stands.

Baron Hirsch, the Hebrew philanthropist, has purchased for $75,000 the Colt Matchbox, which came in second at the Derby race on Wednesday. At this rate for seconds, it might be difficult to figure out the exact value of the prime article.

The floods are beginning to subside throughout the Western states. They have been almost unprecedented in the history of the country, and caused the destruction of millions of dollars' worth of property and considerable loss of life.

General Brennan has come to the front again in Democratic politics, and that means sending some others to the rear. Oil and water will not mix, even in a political cup.

Hon. William Walter Phelps is so seriously ill that all hope of recovery has been abandoned by his friends.

Brockton has a small pox scare and twenty-nine people are now in quarantine.

WHAT THEY SAY.

We congratulate the Democratic city committee of Providence on the accession to its membership of so able an adviser as General Brennan.—[Pawtucket Tribune.

Hill voted with the Republicans and Quay with the Democrats on the sugar schedule. That was about as even a swap numerically as well as in other ways as could be made.—[Pawtucket Post.

The Maine Republicans, following those in Pennsylvania, declare in favor of bimetallism. The feeling is coming to the surface everywhere. Silver is very likely to have its turn again, as soon as the ... enough to the next Congress to devise some better scheme than the country is working under now.—[Springfield Republican.

The Sugar Trust has been given a schedule in the Senate tariff bill perfectly satisfactory—to the trust. Now let us hope that the House will knock it out and give us a schedule satisfactory to the people.—[Woonsocket Call.

The subserviency of the press to the money power was never better shown than in the general opposition to the income tax on the part of most of the papers you read. Taxes should fall on those best able to pay them.—[Independent Citizen.

Pennoyer of Oregon will not follow the Coxeyite army on to Washington. The voters of his state "turned him down" in his Senatorial aspiration by the ballots they cast Monday. Oregon and the country have quite enough of Pennoyer, Waite and the rest of his trios of demagogues.—[Woonsocket Reporter.

It is said that the Republicans propose to make a serious attempt to capture Maryland at the next election. It ought to be successful. Maryland is altogether too intelligent and progressive a state to continue to be forever dragged at the Bourbon chariot wheel and to pay homage to Calhounism.—[Pawtucket Times.

The "more money" lunacy has now been met and thrown down as it approached in three different disguises—free silver coinage, coinage of the seigniorage, and wild-cat local bank bills. Mr. Cleveland still remains the only Democratic leader in sight—Hill is radically untrustworthy on the currency question—one who can be relied upon in all emergencies where safe financial principles are threatened by crackish, ignorant, or unscrupulous zealots. Now let him suggest in ways familiar to him, to his political friends in the popular branch, that the country demands the defeat of the corrupt project for putting millions upon millions into the Sugar Trust, and the business will be done.—[Boston Transcript.

ALCOHOLIC CANDIES.

Chicago came to the front a few weeks ago and waged a successful municipal war against the sale of candy containing alcohol. The variety of sweets most persistently attacked was brandy drops, which were particularly affected by school children. An analysis of these attractive little things discovered that a dozen of them contained as much alcohol as the average morning cocktail of the confirmed tippler. New York has now followed the suit of its big western sister, and the board of health has decided that brandy drops are bad for the health of minors, and the police have been instructed to see that their sale is discontinued.

It would seem as though the manufacturers of brandy drops and similar alcoholic confections would object to such a summary stoppage of the sale of their articles, but such is not the case. On the other hand, they are fairly overwhelmed with pleasure and are preparing to meet the demands of a large country trade, which the wide advertisement of their peculiar wares has created. In the numerous communities where local option and prohibition command a permanent thirst on the part of the bibulous, the announcement that surcease from sorrow can be procured in a solidified form has caused a consummate satisfaction, and candy stores which have hitherto led but a precarious existence are about to bloom out in new paint and plate-glass windows, while the customers, who have hitherto been confined to the small boys and girls, will become adult citizens, whose sweet teeth have suddenly been cut. It may not be surprising, indeed, to see the familiar gum drop and jujube paste of happy childhood relegated to rear shelves, and their place taken by Tomgin tablets, Curacoa caramels, compressed cocktail cakes and other similar creations. In view of these facts, it would be well for the District commissioners to institute inquiries in Washington, and take summary measures to compel the discontinuance of the sale of such sweetmeats, if they are displayed anywhere for purchase.—[Washington Star.

Of course we do not believe it, but an observing friend informs us that the only women who go about the streets with toothpicks in their mouths are women to whose teeth toothpicks are a needless luxury, being of the detachable variety; that, in short, the toothpick is intended to deceive.—[Boston Transcript.

Near 10 o'clock the engagement of three million dollars for shipment to Europe was announced and the whole market weakened. At the hour the speculation was weak in tone. The feature of the stock market during the past hour was the activity and strength in Chicago Gas, which rose to 77. DEAR SIRS—I bought a bottle of your P. P. P. at Hot Springs, Ark., and it has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs.
Have you no agents in this part of the country, or let me know how much it will cost to [illegible] three or six bottles from your city by express.

NEWNANSVILLE, FLA., June 5, 18[illegible].
MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.
DEAR SIRS—I wish to give my testimonial in regard to your valuable medicine, P. P. P., for the cure of rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, biliousness, etc. In 1891 I was attacked with bilious muscular rheumatism, and have been a martyr to it ever since. I tried all medicines I ever heard of, and all the doctors in reach, but I found only temporary relief: the pains were so bad at times that I did not care whether I lived or died. My digestion became so impaired that everything I ate disagreed with me. My wife also suffered so intensely with dyspepsia that her life was a burden to her; she was [illegible] confined to her bed for weeks at the time. [illegible] also suffered greatly from giddiness and loss of sleep. Some time in March I was induced to take P. P. P., and before my wife and I finished the second bottle of P. P. P. our condition began to improve. My pains subsided so much that I have been able to work, and feeling like doing what I haven't done before for a number of years. We will continue taking P. P. P. until we are entirely cured, and will gladly recommend it to all suffering humanity.
Yours very respectfully,
J. S. DUPRESS.

MILLIONS LOST.

By the Floods in the Northwest.

Rivers still Rising in Washington and Oregon.

TACOMA, Wash., June 8.—Conservative railroad men estimate the damage done to railroad and other property by the flood at $5,000,000. The Great Northern and Canadian Pacific roads, it is estimated, will lose $500,000 each by washouts and stoppage of business. The Northern Pacific has suffered almost as severely. It is believed these roads will not be able to put their property in running order for a month.

PORTLAND, Ore, June 8.—The Willamette continued to rise until yesterday morning, since which time it has been stationary at thirty-three feet, five feet above high water mark of 1892. Snake and Upper Columbia rivers continue falling. The estimates of the loss are placed as high as ten million dollars, over half of which will have been sustained by railroads.

The Kootenai River in Washington Still Rising.

SPOKANE, Wash., June 8.—A special from Bonner's Ferry, Idaho, says: The Kootenai river continues to rise at the rate of nearly a foot in twenty-four hours. The main street of the city is from five to ten feet under water. The business portion of the town has been completely deserted. The Great Northern freight cars are nearly covered with water and more than twenty buildings have been taken down the river by the floods. The postoffice and Vangast's large merchandise store were washed away Thursday morning. The heavy log jail was taken up by the flood and carried with the prisoners a mile down the river, but it is not known whether the prisoners were drowned. The people are in sore distress and the loss to property cannot be estimated.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 8.—Advices from eastern Oregon say that a disastrous cyclone visited Grant county Saturday, killing at least three persons and doing great damage to crops and property. A family named Parrish is said to have been killed.

Report of Disaster at Kaslo, B. C., Denied.

SPOKANE, Wash., June 8.—In regard to the report that Kaslo, B. C., had been swept by floods, C. W. Weeks, general agent of the Great Northern railroad, says: "I am familiar with Kaslo and no portion of it could have been swept into the lake, as the business part lying along the lake front was completely wiped out of existence by fire a short time ago and there is nothing left to be swept away. There is not any truth in the report."

Severe Gale at White Point.

WHITE POINT, S. C., June 8.—A severe gale from the east prevails. Schooner Willis Craig, partially loaded with dry fish, is ashore and will be a total loss. The crew was saved. Eleven boats are stranded and it is supposed that great damage has been done to nets and lobster traps all along the coast. Schooner Mary Ann, loaded, left in the height of the storm and no tidings of her have since been received.

TREATY MISINTERPRETED.

Spanish Customs Duties in Cuba not Properly Collected.

MADRID, June 8.—United States Minister Taylor has notified the government that, owing to the misinterpretation of the treaty with the United States, the customs duties are not properly collected in the island of Cuba. Mr. Taylor therefore claims that the United States is entitled to reimbursement in the sum of 22,500,000 pesetas, basing the claim on the ground that articles which according to the English text of the agreement are free of duty are not included in the Spanish copy when was sent to Cuba for the guidance of the customs officials there. If the Spanish government concedes Mr. Taylor's contention the Cuban revenue will be decreased by about 15,000,000 pesetas.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL AND ENTERTAINMENT.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association gave a strawberry festival at the association rooms last evening when there was a large attendance and a remunerative sale of strawberries, cake and ice cream. Before the sale there was a very enjoyable entertainment given in the parlors, which was listened to by the larger part of those who attended the sale. The program included piano duets by Mrs. Stoddard and Miss Bertha Peckham and Mr. and Miss Young; vocal solos by Miss Sadie Bailey and Mr. H. H. Luther, violin solo by Miss Anna Crandall, vocal selection by a quartette from the United Congregational Church choir, including Mrs. W. P. Buffum, Mrs. G. L. Ferrin, Miss Hattie Hayes and Miss Florence M. Hammett, and a reading, "The Mouse Trap," by Dr. Frederick Bradley.

POLICE NOTES.

Neill Collen and James Bruce have been arrested and fined for appearing unseemingly intoxicated on the street, and Joseph Sheeky is under arrest for revelling.

The person who claimed to have lost his wellfilled pocket-book either on an electric car at Brookline or on the Boston train, writes to say that he has recovered it. It was found on the train by an employe of the Old Colony Railroad Company. He was convinced at one time that two men, whom he described, had robbed him on the electric car.

James Keith, a colored lad, employed at the United States Hotel, narrowly escaped getting into trouble recently. A guest at the hotel, A. A. Platts, missed his pocket-book and at once reported the matter. He was positive that he had left it under his pillow. The employe left before the disappearance of the money was known and suspicion was directed against him. Mr. Platts left town yesterday and while examining his valise found the missing pocket-book and the contents intact between a pair of shirts. The young man was to have been arrested and brought here and might have been convicted by the circumstantial evidence.

NEW ENGLAND YEARLY MEETING.

Yesterday afternoon's session of the meeting on ministry and oversight began at 3 o'clock and was opened by prayer by Ruth S. Murray of New Bedford and David J. Douglas of Hallowell, Me.

William O. Newhall, in behalf of the representatives, recommended the appointment of Rufus M. Jones as clerk, and Alice W. Maxfield as assistant clerk, and the recommendations were approved.

The committee appointed at the morning session to prepare summary answers to the queries of the quarterly meetings made its report in the usual form, the answers being satisfactory with few exceptions. The remainder of the session was occupied by addresses by a number of Friends upon the general topics suggested by the answers to the several queries.

At 8 o'clock in the evening a meeting of the representatives was held in the smaller room, when the report of the committee to audit the accounts, securities and investments of the several trust funds held by the yearly meeting was received.

The committee on preservation of the records made its report, recommending that suitable and safe places for keeping their records be provided by each quarterly meeting, and that a safety vault be built at the Friends School in Providence for the preservation of the records of the yearly meeting and of the school.

The records of the representatives' meeting were ordered presented to the general meeting, and an adjournment was taken.

A general meeting for public worship was held at 7:30 o'clock in the large room, which was addressed by several visiting Friends.

The regular sessions of the yearly meeting were begun this morning at 9 o'clock in the large room, the meeting assembling, according to adjournment of last year, in joint session, for the first time in the history of this yearly meeting. A devotional service preceded the regular business session, a large number participating in the exercises, which included singing.

The reports received from the several quarterly meetings, and the call of the roll, showed that one hundred and thirty-four representatives were present, and twenty absent, for eleven of whom satisfactory excuses were given.

The accounts of the several quarterly meetings were read by the clerks, giving details and statistics of the work during the year. Rhode Island quarterly meeting reported the death of Rhoda H. Bullington of East Greenwich.

The certificates of the following visiting ministers from other yearly meetings were read, and a cordial welcome was extended to them on behalf of New England Yearly Meeting: Franklin Meredith and Mary Moon Meredith of Western Yearly Meeting, Laurella Pim and Adin Pim of Ohio Yearly Meeting, and Fernando G. Cartland of New York Yearly Meeting. The latter, now a visitor to this yearly meeting for four successive years, responded briefly.

The announcement was made that epistles had been received from all the corresponding yearly meetings except Kansas and Wilmington, and also an epistle from the mission school at Ramallah. The epistles from the London and Dublin yearly meetings were then read, and considerable time was spent in a general discussion of various matters suggested therein.

The following were appointed a committee to prepare returning minutes for the visiting Friends: Alfred H. Jones, Henry C. Aydelott, I. Warren Hawkes, Harriet D. Collins, Richard Bailey, Hannah J. Bailey, Lucy R Goddard, Mary W. Jones.

The following committee was appointed to audit and settle the accounts of the treasurer, to propose a sum of money sufficient to defray the expenses of the meeting for the ensuing year, and to make nominations for treasurer of the yearly meeting, treasurer of the boarding school at Providence, and treasurer of Oak Grove Seminary, at Vassalboro, Maine: Robert P. Gifford, Owen Dame, Edward G. Dillingham, S. Jane Cox, Isaac Steere, William H. Cater, Job Varney, Joseph E. Briggs, John B. Cartland.

A committee of two from each quarterly meeting was appointed to prepare a summary of answers to the queries, as follows: Ellen K. Buffum, Charles W. Earle, Alice W. Maxfield, George L. Crossman, Mary C. Bayliss, Edward T. Tucker, Sarah M. Nowlin, Ezra Hawkes, Sarah J. Swift, D. Wheeler Swift, Eliza P. Pierce, Linwood W. Jones, Lydia E. Sawyer, Samuel Buffum, Martha B. Osborn, Paul Wing, Martha E. Wing, Silas H. Cartland.

Anna M. Gove, Thomas Wood, Daniel C. Maxfield, Hannah P. Ladd, William Douglas, Mary H. Robinson, Richard Macomber and Mary Abby Swift was appointed a committee to nominate a committee on correspondence.

At about noon an adjournment was taken until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

A public meeting for worship will be held this evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

Copies of the Daily News, containing reports of the yearly meeting, will be forwarded to any address in the country, postage paid, daily, for the session, for 2 cents each. The reports will have the completeness of former years. Publication office, 105 Thames street.

TIVERTON.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The school in District No. 4 was closed today to allow those who wished to attend the circus in Fall River an opportunity to do so.

Mr. Hamlin has finished his cottage, upon which he has made extensive improvements.

The Northumb Jubilee Concert banner again took wings and this morning is to be seen projecting from the top of the chimney of the tallest building in town.

The authorities have given warning to those residents of North Tiverton who have been, and still are engaged in selling beer, that unless such practice is discontinued there will be more raiding.

MISS VANDERBILT'S PORTRAIT.

It is a very sensible restriction which Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt has placed upon Carolus Duran, the French artist, whom he has commissioned to paint the portrait of his daughter, Miss Vanderbilt, namely, that the picture shall not be exhibited at the coming Salon. Mr. Vanderbilt does not care to have the portrait of his fair young daughter surrounded by a crowd of gaping spectators, pointing it out as "ze portrait of ze daughter of zat Meellionaire Vanderbilt." He probably considers in addition that in this age of publicity the picture of a young girl should not be other than privately shown, and within his own house. In this action, as in many others, Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt gives evidence of the possession to a marked degree of refined sensibilities and good common sense, which qualities, added to that of a fine personal character, induced the remark at Newport a few years ago that "Cornelius would be the Vanderbilt family representative in heaven."—[New York Commercial Advertiser.

ALL SAINTS' MEMORIAL CHAPEL.

On Sunday next All Saints' Memorial Chapel, on Cottage street, will open for the season, the services being at the usual hours, 11 A. M. and 5 P. M. The church has, as usual, secured a number of the prominent preachers of the denomination to officiate during the season, which lasts until the middle of October. The officiating clergymen, as announced in the church circular, are to be as follows: June 10, Rev. William Kirkus of Jersey City; June 17, Rev. George Herbert Patterson of St. Mary's, Portsmouth; June 24, Rev. Lewis Cameron of Calvary Church, New York; July 1, Rev. William Channey Langdon of Washington, general secretary of the missionary board; July 8, Rev. William Kirkus; July 15, Rev. Arthur Wentworth Eaton of New York; July 22 and July 29, Rev. William S. Rainsford of St. George's Church, New York; during the month of August, Rt. Rev. Thomas M. Clark, bishop of the diocese; September 2, Rev. Percy S. Grant of New York, formerly of Fall River; September 9, Rev. E. Winchester Donald, D. D., of Trinity Church, Boston; September 16, Rev. William R. Huntington of Grace Church, New York; September 23, Rev. W. Charles Wilson of Spring Hill Mine, Nova Scotia; September 30, Rev. Henry Y. Satterlee of Calvary Church, New York; October 7, and October 14, Rev. Elihalet N. Potter, president of Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., and a brother of Bishop Potter. The offerings on the first two Sundays will be for diocesan missions, to assist the work of the various churches which are maintaining or opening chapels in places not reached by the regularly established churches.

OLD COLONY SUMMER TIME TABLE.

The summer time table of the Old Colony division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad will go into effect on June 18, when additional train accommodations will be afforded to Newport. According to the plan at present, the first train out will, as in previous years, leave at 7:25 and run as far as Middleboro, instead of to Taunton. The Boston train will leave at 7:45, as in past years, and the 10:15 A. M. train will leave as at present. The Park square train will leave at 1 o'clock, instead of at 12:50, as last year. The 2:55 train will leave as now, and the late afternoon train will start at 5:20, instead of 5:10, as at present. Besides these, which have been usual each summer, a passenger train will leave the steamboat wharf at 9:15 P. M., running through to Mansfield and probably giving a connection to Boston. The trains will arrive as follows: 9:05 A. M., leaving Boston at 5:45; at 11:05 A. M., from Boston at 8:30; and at 11:30 A. M., from Boston (Park square) at 9:30. The present 2:20 P. M. train will reach here at 2:20 and the 6:55 P. M. will arrive as at present. The extra passenger train from Fall River, connecting with the 7 P. M. steamboat train from Boston, will arrive at 9 P. M. On Sundays, in addition to the present train, which will arrive at 6:55 A. M. and leave at 6:55 P. M., an extra Boston train will reach here at 11:15 A. M. and leave at 4:00 P. M. There will probably be no Sunday excursion trains.

DISTRICT COURT.

It was one of those long, weary sessions today, with two unusual occurrences, in the nature of fainting away. One of these was not in the courtroom, and the other was.

The case of James J. Sullivan, whose added title is "The Hummer," was withdrawn, costs being paid. The charge was assault.

William A. Jackson, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, a pistol, waived examination, and gave $1,000 bail, with Thomas Murphy as surety, to await the action of the grand jury.

James Richardson had a full hearing as to the charge of assaulting Daniel Leary, on the early morning of April 27. Leary testified, but did not give a very concise account of his injuries, nor was there any medical evidence on that point. There was practical unanimity as to what occurred up to the moment of the assault. The two men had "done the town," so to speak, going from place to place, drinking, until 2 A. M. Leary claimed that after a lull in the quarrelling he was stabbed in the back before he knew it. Richardson, who talked pretty intelligently, said he had paid the bills for the two until just before the quarrel, when Leary complained because he would pay no more, and the quarrel ensued. Richardson claimed that he acted entirely in self-defense. He made no denial of the cutting, saying he "jagged" Leary with an old knife he had, and he also "raked him across the arm;" but he claimed that Leary "had him round the neck punching him in the ribs," and that there was no cutting until he had told Leary five or six times to stop. Defendant said they were down, and he must have been the under man, for his coat had dirt on it. He identified the more discomfited of the two hats (it was in very bad condition) as his own, and ascribed its condition to Leary. He did not stay to see how badly Leary was hurt. He cut his own pantaloons in trying to get the knife open. He used to work for the Carnegie Steel Company at Pittsburg.

The other witnesses were Officers Simpson, Northup and Ackers, Sergeant Gillen, George Nolan and Henry Riley, a colored youth, who was also out to get a drink. Rev. Mr. Jeter spoke of the good character of defendant. The court finally settled the matter by holding defendant for the grand jury, and $500 bail was given, with Lindsey Walker as surety.

The rest of the long session was taken up with a more recent phase of the troubles between certain families in Middletown. Francis Barker was charged with shooting at Philip Peckham, on May 17. Mr. Peckham told his story of unprovoked and aggravated assault, to which he had responded by giving the defendant all the corporal punishment he desired; but the defendant, when thought to be in retreat, had fired upon him. Mrs. Peckham corroborated her husband's story. As she left the stand she was seized with a violent attack of illness and removed from the room, Mr. Ives, having noticed her condition, cut short his cross-examination. There were a number of other witnesses. The court finally decided to hold defendant for the grand jury, and $300 bail was given with Clinton G. Smith as surety.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Charles T. Knowles has sold for Daniel C. Watson his cottage on Clinton avenue, to Miss Sarah Potter of Jamestown.

The agent of the North British Mercantile Insurance Company has adjusted the loss on the Albert Caswell cottage at $287; and $121.80 on the furniture through Henry Bull, Jr.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. F. H. Cann of the Bridgeport Young Men's Christian Association and Mrs. Cann are in town.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Osgood of New York have arrived at their villa on the corner of Bellevue and Narragansett avenue.

—The engagement is announced of Mr. J. S. C. McTernan, clerk at the Perry House, and Miss Bessie Connor of New York, who is at present in the city.

—The Pacifics and the Woodbines, two local base ball clubs composed of young players, will cross bats at Morton Park at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

—Mr Royal Phelps Carroll's sloop yacht Navahoe, which has not been in the harbor since her departure for Europe about a year ago, arrived this morning from a cruise.

—Government barge Adah Vrooman, which has been at work on the Block Island breakwater, was towed to Fort Adams this morning by steamers G. W. Danielson and Ocean View.

—While hitching the horses on steamer No. 6 last evening, Mr. Elmer E. Leonard, a member of the company, was slightly injured about the eyes and nose by the banger of the swinging harness.

—There is some talk of asking the legislature to create a police commission to take charge of the police force of this city, the commissioners, like the present board of license commissioners, to hold office for a term of years, and to be elected by the City Council in joint convention.

—There were altogether too many school children in the audience at the district court today. Things are said in these criminal proceedings that are not what children should listen to. The truant officer appeared just before 2 o'clock, and started off for school those who then remained.

—United States steamer Lancaster arrived at New York at noon today from the China station. She passed Gibraltar on May 2 and was not expected to reach New York until June 10, and is therefore two days ahead of time, instead of being overdue, as has been stated in several newspapers. The Lancaster will be repaired and fitted with a modern battery, and will be assigned to the Naval station, where she will be used as a gunnery practice ship for naval apprentices.

Captain Bartlett, of the Atlanta, visited the Navy Department Wednesday and reported that the Atlanta was in no condition to obey the orders sending her to Bluefields. He was recommended for the condition of the vessel when she returned from Nicaragua last year, though it has since been demonstrated that he was not wholly responsible, as he did not join the vessel until she started home, and the ship had been in bad shape months before that. The Atlanta has spent the winter undergoing repairs, and was put in commission a short time ago, presumably in excellent order. Since that time her only duty has been to tow the Constellation to Newport and the Richmond from that harbor to Lamoine Island. Naval officers think that somebody on board the Atlanta is opposed to spending the summer on the Mosquito coast. It is said the Secretary of the Navy will insist on the departure of the Atlanta for Bluefields after some slight repairs at the New York yard, if he is convinced that the vessel needs them; otherwise the ship will be sent at once under a peremptory order.

AFFAIRS IN SAMOA.

Battle Imminent with the Rebels at Atua.

The Aanna Chiefs Pay Fines but Do not Submit to the King.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 8.—Writing from Apia, Samoa, under date of May 23, a press correspondent says a report is current that steamer Mariposa, which arrived on that date, conveys instructions of a definite nature to the ships of war in the harbor, British cruiser Curacoa and German warships Buzzard and Falke, relative to the Samoan question if not indeed a determination of Samoan affairs generally. If such proves to be the case they will not be made public until the steamer leaves for San Francisco.

Ready for a Battle.

The question of annexation to Germany, Great Britain or New Zealand is exciting great controversy among us, and if no news regarding the annexation or instructions to the men of-war to interfere has been received, desperate fighting must take place within a day or two at Atua, for the government forces and rebels are at this moment facing each other and ready for a sanguinary engagement. The former number 650, while the strength of the latter is estimated at 1,200 to 1,500 and they are in practically an inaccessible position. To capture it will cost the government party many lives.

Aanna Chiefs Refuse to Submit to the King.

The Aanna chiefs have paid their fine of fifty guns, but have declined to submit to the king. They have been given till June 1, when the government will send a force of Asarlana against them if they still persist in their refusal.

On the 17th inst., while a small party of government soldiers were making a reconnoissance, they were attacked by Atuans. A sharp conflict ensued in which three were wounded, one of whom, a government soldier, has since died.

BIG HAILSTONES.

A Disastrous Storm in Vienna Yesterday.

VIENNA, June 8.—The storm yesterday lasted fifteen minutes. The thermometer dropped from eighty to sixty degrees Fahrenheit, in that time. The hailstones fell in sheets and the wind blew a hurricane. No such storm has been known here since 1848. When the storm broke out several hundred artillerymen were drilling on Simmering Heath. The horses bolted and several men were unseated and the guns passed over their bodies. Three officers and fourteen privates were injured. The hailstones choked the drains and caused many in the low districts to burst. The stones varied in size between walnuts and eggs. They lay in masses all over the street. A tram car and a milk car stuck fast in the middle of a street and were dug out with difficulty. In one open cellar the hailstones were ten feet deep. Many old roofs collapsed under the loads left by the storm. Gangs of men were employed for hours after the storm in shovelling the ice into carts and throwing it into the river. The trees on the Prater and the Ring Strasse were terribly damaged. All the windward windows in the city were broken. Many were pierced as if with bullets. It is estimated that half a million were smashed. It is calculated that it will take a fortnight to repair the damage in the city. The glaziers already demand double wages. The people were panic-stricken during the storm. There are known to have been three persons killed, presumably by lightning. In some parts of the country the crops were ruined.

FRANCE AND ENGLAND.

M. Hanotaux's Declaration Criticised by English Newspapers.

LONDON, June 8.—Most of the morning newspapers publish leaders concerning M. Hanotaux's declaration in the French Chambers yesterday. In a half bantering way they express an earnest desire to know how Great Britain has injured France and what agreements have been trampled on. They ascribe M. Hanotaux's chauvinism to the conviction that it is necessary to make a good impression at the opening of his ministerial career. The Times denies that anybody in England has the smallest desire to intringe upon French rights or to ruffle reasonable French sentiments. It asks for a plain, business-like statement of Great Britain's offence. The Standard admits France's power and rights, but says that nothing has arisen to afford a rational pretext for talk of using the one to enforce the other. The Daily News says: The debate proceeded on the wholly false assumption of the violation of existing engagements. The Daily Chronicle complains of the "unreasonable suspicion and quasi-hostility of France."

HOSTILITY TO CRISPI.

The Difficulty in the Italian Cabinet Crisis.

LONDON, June 8.—The Rome correspondent of the Times says of the Italian Cabinet crisis: The prime cause of the difficulty of solving the crisis is the hostility of irresponsible persons in high quarters to Signor Crispi. This influence is so powerful that Crispi may decide to retire to private life. The worst troubles of the ministry did not arise in the chamber; they were due to personal matters for which the constitution does not provide and which may prove fatal to the crown and country.

MR. WANAMAKER PLEASED.

Cordial Reception of American Delegates in London.

LONDON, June 8.—The Westminster Gazette publishes an interview with Mr. John Wanamaker, ex Postmaster General of the United States, who is here as a delegate to the Young Men's Christian Association jubilee just closed. Mr. Wanamaker says he has visited the House of Commons on two occasions during debate and expresses his opinion, that the order and dignity of that body compares favorably with the methods observed in the House of Representatives at Washington. Of the jubilee Mr. Wanamaker says the reception of the delegates has been princely. They have been received with the utmost courtesy everywhere and their sessions have been most successful and delightful to remember.

German Artillerymen Sunstruck.

BERLIN, June 8.—Forty artillerymen were sunstruck yesterday while their battalion was marching from Bottwar to Waiblingen in Wurtemberg. Two of them died before night. Fifteen others are dangerously ill.

The Vigilant Becalmed in Mid-Ocean.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Steamer Washington, which arrived here this morning from Hamburg, reports that on June 4, at 8 A. M., in Lat. 42.10; Long. 61, she sighted yacht Vigilant becalmed.

Death of Mrs. Grant's Brother.

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 8.—R. E. Dent, brother of Mrs. General Grant, is dead.

A FAILURE THAT BROKE A HEART.

Just over the way lifts the black shadow of the Spectatorium—most stupendous of all failures. The workmen are still busy. Wreckers are borrowing hours from the night and adding speed to destruction—at so many cents extra the hour. A young'sh man named Harrison is in charge. The contract seems too big for him—till you know him well. His men know it is none too big, and they hurry to obey his commands. He promises us a "fall," and sends climbers to fasten their ropes to the tallest of pillars.

While they are preparing we walk about. Here the stage would have been, one hundred and fifty feet from wing to wing. Look at its depth, where a mansion could stand. Here were the stalls; there the rising tiers of seats; beyond, the galleries. Fifteen thousand people could have waited here while hundreds of living actors on the stage droned about La Rabida, contended in the plaza at Palos, rowed across real water, and took ship in caravels half as large as the ships of Columbus.

Back of the theatre is a barn-like structure almost as large, which Mackaye called his studio. In it are still masses of ferns and palms of which his new-found islands could be made. In it are the ships, with their genuine sails; the mimic towns of the old world and the new, the lofty frames for the largest scenery that ever was hung. It is more than a bankrupt theatre one is studying. Here are the legacies of a man that dared. And for every dollar intrusted to him he must have coined a drop of his warm heart's blood, for there is evidence of murderous work on every hand in the studio.

Look at the rigging of that ship. Look at the perfection of detail in those street scenes. This is genuine bamboo, brought up from the tropics. That figure at the fountain is marble—not staff. Here is a crucifix that would adorn a cathedral—of natural size—and the work of a master. It would have been one detail in a stupendous picture. It lifts its pitying front today and begs a refuge by some shrine of devotion.—[Chicago Herald.

UNIVERSAL PEACE.

The London Graphic publishes a notable interview with Sir George Gray, sometime premier of New Zealand and governor of Cape Colony, concerning a future federation of English-speaking peoples. Sir George prophesied a close federative alliance of the United States and Great Britain. The difficulties of such an alliance, he said, would soon disappear, and then a beginning of the movement toward federation would be made. The monarchy would strengthen the republic, he said, and the republic would help strengthen the monarchy. Each had some features which might be most advantageously retained. The settlement by arbitration of recent differences between the two countries had brought them nearer each other, and had justified hopes of such a union that neither would make war without the other's consent. There would then be a great belt of peace around the world.

THE SITUATION IN COREA.

A cable message has been received at the Navy Department, announcing the arrival of United States steamer Baltimore at Chemulpo, Corea, but saying nothing with regard to the state of affairs. Silence on this point is accepted in official circles as an indication that affairs are not in a very alarming condition, and that the American residents of the country are certainly not in any imminent danger from the recent reported uprising against the foreign elements. The presence of a warship in Corean waters will undoubtedly insure the safety of foreign residents. It is also expected that the visit of the Baltimore will have a deterrent effect on the rebellion against the Corean government, if it does not check it entirely.

It was undoubtedly this hoped-for result that mainly inspired the King of Corea to request the United States government to send a warship to Corea immediately, rather than his intense personal interest in the welfare of the eighty Americans doing business in his kingdom. Therefore, if the mere presence of the Baltimore turns the tide of affairs in favor of the government, it would seem as though the king would have cause to thank the United states for his action, rather than that the United States should thank him for notifying it that he could no longer protect its citizens. The published statement that the President would send the king a vote of thanks for his timely warning does not seem to be warranted by the surrounding circumstances.

It is said at the Navy Department that the Baltimore will remain at Corea as long as there is any occasion for it. Several excellent reasons are advanced for American intervention in the present Corean crisis. In the first place, there are in Corea probably about two hundred white foreigners, a plurality of whom are Americans. An enumeration taken last June gave seventy Americans at Seoul, four at Chemulpo, three at Fonsan, and two at Wonson, making seventy-nine in all. The English numbered forty-five, the French twenty-nine, the Germans twenty-eight, the Russians thirteen, and various Europeans twelve. The duty of protecting the persons and property of Americans is therefore obvious.

The telegram received by the Coreans admits that the insurgents hold possession of the southernmost province of Corea, and this brings them within a few days' march not only of Seoul but of the three open ports just mentioned, where the remainder of the white foreigners are found. Fortunately there is some telegraphic communication between Seoul and other points, and a submarine wire from Fonsan to Nagasaki.

A second reason for such intervention is that its value has been shown by experience. It may be recalled that last year the Marion, and afterward the Alert, at that time belonging to the Asiatic station, visited Chemulpo, and there was good evidence that the move had a most beneficial effect in protecting American rights and interests in Corea.

The regular troops of the Corean army are said to number only about seven thousand men, in a population of perhaps seven million five hundred thousand souls, and although no doubt other forces could be raised yet the sending of an American warship to Chemulpo will be appreciated. The army is organized and armed in modern fashion.

This leads to a third consideration, which is that the cause of civilization and progress, including the perpetuation of American influence in Corea, may be involved in the present troubles. The despatches indicate the fact that the revolutionary movement is anti-foreign, and that the party now in revolt is opposed to the liberal policy adopted by the king. He still has two Americans as counsellors, and his special friendship for the United States has frequently been manifested. He has been thirty years on the throne, but he has not pursued the policy which was in vogue when he came into power.

On the contrary, it was he that opened the hermit kingdom, as it was once well called, from its strict isolation, to European and American powers. His first treaty of commerce was made with our country in 1882, others with Great Britain and Germany following the next year, with Italy and Russia in 1884, and with France in 1886. When he sought to procure a full acknowledgment of the autonomy of Corea he began by sending an embassy to Washington. He called in American officers to organize and drill his troops, and took as his chief adviser for many years an American, while, as has been said, there are still Americans in the council of state.

When last year Secretary Herbert caused Rear Admiral Harmony to send the Marion to Chemulpo, as an outbreak against the Christians was feared, her officers on going up to Seoul found the royal troops drilling under orders delivered in English, with rifles of American manufacture. American inventions are found at the capital, including lighting by electricity, and Americans conduct a school, an orphanage and a hospital. The Presbyterian missionaries, numbering, it is said, over twenty, have been at work there for something like nine years.—[Washington Star.

INDIAN APPROPRIATION.

Forms the Theme of a Religious Discussion in the House.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The house had the Indian appropriation bill under discussion yesterday.

The main feature of the debate was an attack on the Catholic church, made by Mr. Linton of Michigan, in which he argued against the contract Indian schools, saying that under this system the largest share of the appropriation for educating the Indians went to the Catholic Indian schools.

The other point of interest was the debate on the location of the Indian supply warehouse, the New York delegation protesting against the abandonment of the warehouse at New York for one at Chicago. This gave rise to a spirited debate between the champions of the two cities.

A resolution was adopted before adjournment calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws, and another authorizing the committee on immigration to visit Ellis island, for the purpose of studying the operation of the laws.

Agricultural Seals Disposed Of.

The senate, in considering the agricultural schedule of the tariff bill yesterday, agreed to the paragraph putting a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem on buckwheat, corn or maize, cornmeal, oats, rye, rye flour, wheat and wheat flour, and of 15 per cent on oatmeal; but admitting each of these products free of duty from any country which imposes no import duty on the like product when exported from the United States. The 15 per cent on oatmeal was offered as an amendment from the finance committee.

It is more than probable that the agreement which Mr. Harris and Mr. Aldrich sought to make in the senate, but which was objected to by Mr. Quay, will be made today. Under this agreement, all the succeeding schedules of the tariff bill down to wool will be discussed under the five-minute rule.

This, the Republicans say, does not indicate that they have given up the fight, but does show their desire to get to the wool schedule, where a contest, unsuccessful, but none the less vigorous, will be waged.

It is believed that under this arrangement the schedules affected by it can be disposed of in three or four days.

UNDER A NEW HEAD.

Hawaii's Constitutional Convention—Significant Action of the British Minister.

HONOLULU, May 31, via San Francisco, June 8.—The long-looked for constitutional convention met yesterday. The assemblage gathered in the hall formerly used as a meeting place for the legislatures of the royalty. None of the old-time pomp and ceremony marked the occasion. The room was full of people, and all foreign diplomatic and consular corps were present, with the exception of the representatives of England and Portugal.

Minister Wodehouse, the British minister resident, was asked to be present, but sent a formal reply, stating that he could not be there, but gave no reason for his action.

President Dole read an address to the members, after which an adjournment was taken.

The steamer Iwalani returned Tuesday from the Necker islands.

Minister of the Interior King, at the head of the expedition, raised the Hawaiian flag over Little Lava Rock, and Hawaii now owns more property. The new acquisition is a perfectly barren island, of no use whatever, except as a possible resting place for the proposed cable.

Several People Missing.

NORTHPORT, Wash., June 8.—A messenger from Nelson reports that Kaslo, B. C., was swept almost entirely away on Sunday by a cloudburst and wind storm. He says that the wharf and stores were carried into the lake, and that several people are missing. Telegraph wires are down and trains not running.

Supplied Insurgents With Provisions.

LONDON, June 8.—It is reported that the arrest in Rio de Janeiro of Edward P. Wilson, of Wilson Sons & Co. and James M. Eyre, the manager of that company, by the Brazilian government, are connected with the supplying of a portion of a cargo of Australian mutton to the Brazilian insurgents.

An Appeal to French Canadians.

QUEBEC, June 8.—Le Lecteur appeals for the preservation of the French-Canadian nationality as follows: The English fanatics ought to remember that in Quebec we have over 1,000,000 patriots, who belong heart and soul to France, and who have nothing in common with the English.

Anarchists to Be Punished.

MADRID, June 8.—At the trial of Santiago Salvador yesterday, charged with complicity in the Liceo theater bomb outrage at Barcelona, the public prosecutor demanded the death penalty. In the case of two others on the same charge, he demanded sentences of imprisonment for life.

Trying to Compromise.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Herald's Buenos Ayres dispatch says: The deposed bank manager, Marenco, has returned to this city and offers in part payment of the shortage in his accounts the title deeds of his property here.

A STRANGE SCENE.

On Her Death Bed Mary Byrne Tells of Irish Conspiracies and Murders.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The World publishes the following story today:

"Lying in a darkened room on the ground floor of a tiny frame house in Providence, is the helpless body of Mrs. Mary Byrne, widow of Frank Byrne of 'the Invincibles,' the woman who is generally accused of having carried from London to Dublin the knives that were driven by Brady and Kelley into the bodies of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke.

"For three years she has been dying literally by inches, of creeping paralysis, and speech itself has almost left her.

"A reporter of The World, who talked with her on Wednesday night, stood behind a curtain that concealed the bedroom from sight, while her daughter bent over her bedside and caught the faint replies and interpreted them.

"Her first reply when Tynan's story was read to her was: 'I will say nothing in answer to the man who has betrayed us.'

"She was asked a word in defense of Parnell. 'Parnell was innocent,' she gasped, 'before God I swear it. Whether my husband was the ringleader or not, does not matter. I'll say nothing. But Parnell knew nothing of the murders.'

"Then, with an effort, she added: 'Tynan was not No. 1. He never had anything to do with the direction. I know who had, but I wont tell you. It is wrong to say that Carey got his pardon on condition that he would implicate Parnell. He knew nothing about Parnell to tell. He was simply to inform on Brady, Kelley and the rest, and he did it to save himself. After I am dead the world shall have all it wants to know. Then the truth can be told."

A TWIRLERS' CONTEST

In Which Nichols of the Bostons Proves His Superiority.

BOSTON, June 8.—Breitenstein, the left-handed "wonder," pitched for the St. Louis Browns against the Bostons yesterday. "Breit" was very wild, giving no less than 13 bases on balls. All of these proved very costly, as base hits followed. That's how the Browns were defeated.

THE LITTLE MINE RIOT.

The Strikers Suspend Hostilities—Two of the Wounded in a Critical Condition.

PEORIA, Ills., June 8.—Few of the strikers have visited the scene of Wednesday's hostilities. The village at the Little mine is quiet and deserted. The people moved out en masse and came to Peoria for protection. It is thought they will return today, when active steps will be taken toward the rebuilding of the burned shaft. It will be a number of weeks, however, before operations can be resumed.

William Dickson, the colored man shot during the riot, died yesterday. James Little, son of the proprietor of the mine, is in a critical condition. Peter Little is much more seriously injured than at first supposed. Four buckshot took effect.

It is said that several of the women, wives of the miners, were desirous of taking arms against the strikers, and were restrained with difficulty.

Coxey Leaders to Be Freed.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Coxey, Browne and Christopher Columbus Jones will be released from jail tomorrow. Jesse Coxey has been attempting to get a permit from the authorities for a parade of the commonweal in honor of the liberation of its leaders, but as yet has not succeeded.

Ten Per Cent Dividend Declared.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 8.—Judge Winters has declared another dividend in the Iron Hall receivership. It was the intention of the court to declare a 25 per cent dividend, but after hearing the report he declared the dividend to be 10 per cent.

New York's Epworth League.

RYE, N. Y., June 8.—At the annual convention of the Epworth league of the New York east conference district, an address entitled "The Relations of Other Departments to that of Spiritual Work," was read by Mr. John Moore. Miss Mary Pressy read a paper on "How to Interest Young Women in Spiritual Work," and George D. Beatty's read a paper on "How to Interest Young Men in Spiritual Work."

Consolidation Articles Filed.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., June 8.—Articles of consolidation have been filed between the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad company and the Chicago and Indiana Coal Railroad company. The name of the consolidated company is to be the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad company. The principal office is to be in Chicago, and the capital stock is $25,000,000.

Will Colonize In South Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—The government has drafted a scheme to organize a Jewish colony in South Russia. Grants of land and agricultural implements are to be given to them, and the scattered estates now owned by the Jews are to be bought by the state and handed over to Russians in order to enable the Jewish farmers to proceed to the new colony.

The Baron's Valuable Horse.

LONDON, June 8.—Baron Hirsch has purchased Matchbox, who ran second to Ladas in the Derby. The price paid was £75,000, and an additional $25,000 is to be paid provided Matchbox wins the grand prize of Paris.

Work of Brutal Miners.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 8.—Two deputy sheriffs of Lawrence county, guarding a trestle at Coal Cave, were overpowered by a mob and beaten. Both may die from their injuries.

Coxeyites Drowned.

BRIGHTON, Colo., June 8.—Seven boats of the Coxey fleet which left Denver were upset, and several lives were lost. One body has been recovered.

THE LIBRARY AND LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS.

The Library of Congress now occupies quarters in the Capitol building. Its collection of books outgrew the shelving capacity of these quarters a dozen years ago, and the huge aggregation of printed matter has gone on accumulating at the rate of twenty-five or thirty thousand volumes a year. The books are piled everywhere, in heaps which would seem to indicate helpless and hopeless confusion. Basement vaults are stuffed with literary treasures, and nothing can now be done with the further increase except to secure some kind of temporary storage and wait for the new building.

In the midst of this seeming confusion there moves a quiet, dark-eyed, alert-visaged gentleman whose systematic mind and clear intelligence dominate what would otherwise be an overwhelming anarchy of books. Mr. Ainsworth R. Spofford is a public servant whom all Congressmen respect and honor. In denouncing the ruthlessness of the spoils system, and the scant recognition of real merit in our public service, we must always remember that there are notable exceptions. Mr. Spofford will next year celebrate the attainment of his three-score and ten years of life, and the completion of thirty years of continuous service as chief of the Congressional Library. Although the new building may not be ready for general public use, it is quite certain that Mr. Spofford may also next year superintend the placing of at least half a million volumes upon the shelves of the new stack rooms. It was to his persistence and energy more than to the persuasions of any other man that Congress yielded when it finally determined to erect a separate and monumental structure for the housing of a national library. For some time it was expected that the immediate problem of a place for the unshelved books would be solved by building an extension to the east side of the Capitol. Fortunately this short-sighted policy was abandoned. Mr. Spofford's counsels were largely followed in the planning of the new structure, and he is justified in pronouncing it incomparably the best arranged, as it is also the most commodious, national library structure of the whole world.

Mr. Spofford had for some time served as an assistant in the Congressional Library before he became chief librarian in 1865; and in that earlier period he had given ample evidence of extraordinary capacity in his chosen field of work. He had catalogued the Congressional Library, and had done much to render it quickly and satisfactorily available for the reference of legislators, and the use of others who desired to delve in its rich treasures of Americana. It now contains approximately seven hundred thousand volumes, while in 1865, when Mr. Spofford assumed full charge, it had only ninety thousand.—[Albert Shaw, in June Review of Reviews.

HINTS FOR THE SUMMER.
Try and keep cool.
Do not get excited.
Exertion is good—overexertion, injurious.
Keep the blood cool, well circulated and healthy.
Do not eat fat or heavy food, but those that will nourish and not overheat.
Don't eat unripe fruits or other unwholesome food.
Keep yourself clean, keep your home clean, and live in a clean neighborhood.
If you feel heated do not resort to ice drinks but take a little pure medicinal whiskey in iced water.
Remember that there is but one pure medicinal whiskey in the market and that is Duffy's Pure Malt and that is the only kind that can safely be depended on during hot weather.
It may be that some people, possibly your druggist or grocer, will tell you that there are other whiskies "just as good." If you are wise you will not be deceived but insist upon having that which is purest, best and certain to do you good.
If you follow these common sense suggestions there is no reason why you are not, through the summer, free from colds, summer complaints and all the changes which surround us during this trying time of the year.

AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE.

The second day's session of the African Methodist Episcopal Conference at the Bethel Church, Providence, yesterday, was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. Dr. Johnson, after which the reports of the condition of the churches were continued, all reporting a good condition, considering the times.

Bishop Tanner appointed R. F. Haveley, D. D., D. P. Roberts, M. D., H. Davis, J. T. Hayslett and H. C. Ashley a committee to report on a date for children's day.

Rev. Messrs. Brightman of Attleboro, Thompson of the New Jersey conference, and Dr. J. C. Embry, manager of the African Methodist Episcopal Book Concern, Philadelphia, were introduced and made brief addresses.

The evening service was of a missionary character. Rev. W. B. Derrick, D. D., missionary secretary, presided and made an address in behalf of home and foreign missions. He was followed by Rev. J. H. Morgan of New Haven and Rev. H. T. Johnson, D. D., editor of the Christian Recorder. The service was closed by prayer and praise.

NEW YORK YACHT CLUB REGATTA.

The annual June regatta of the New York Yacht Club was sailed yesterday off New York in a strong breeze. Eight schooners and four sloops were entered and sailed an excellent race. The greatest interest was in the contest between the Gloriana and Wasp, in which the latter reversed the result of Tuesday's contest, defeating the Gloriana by twenty-three minutes and thirty-six seconds in a thirty-five mile course.

The wind was strong from the northwest at the start, shifting to W3W. during the race. Clubtopsails were carried by all the yachts in racing trim; those in cruising trim carried only working topsails. It was a broad reach from the start to the southwest spit, from there a reach to a point off the Hook, and from there to the Sandy Hook lightship, a run with spinnakers to port. There was a lively match between the Wasp and Gloriana off the Hook, in which the latter lost ground.

Sandy Hook Lightship was rounded as follows: Wasp, 12:45:20; Gloriana, 12:49:50; Sachem, 12:51:45; Emerald, 1:00:00; Ariel, 1:03:35; Queen Mab, 1:04:55; Eclipse, 1:08:40; Elsie Marie, 1:11:40; Loyal, 1:15:10; Neaera, 1:18:50; Victor, 1:19:20; Agnes, 1:21:38.

From the lightship back to Sandy Hook it was windward work for the yachts, and it was in this that the Ariel steadily gained on the Emerald and the Queen Mab, Mr. Chubb's British cutter, gained on schooner Sachem. These two and sloop Eclipse sailed in cruising trim in the same class for a special prize.

The winners are: Schooner Ariel, by 3m. 32s.; Emerald, second. Schooner Elsie Marie, by 12m. 26s.; Loyal, second. Schooner Victor, by 4 m. 40s.; Neaera, second. Queen Mab, by 11m. 28s.; Sachem, second. Wasp, by 23m. 36s.; Gloriana, second.

MISS GENEVIEVE STEBBINS.

Miss Genevieve Stebbins, who is associated with Mr. F. Townsend Southwick in the principalship of the New York School of Expression which will hold a summer session in the Rogers High School in July and August, is one of the leading exponents of the Delsarte system in America. She was for years the favorite pupil of the late Steele MacKaye, Delsarte's assistant and representative, acting as his substitute as lecturer and teacher in the Boston University School of Oratory. Nearly every teacher of prominence has been under her instruction. On her return to New York she at once took a place in the forefront of teachers, being especially successful in the large fashionable private schools of the city. Shortly after her return she inaugurated the well-known Delsarte matinees at the Madison Square Theatre. Of late she has made engagements to give similar entertainments in the larger cities outside of New York and has appeared with uniform success in Chicago before the National Association of Elocutionists, in Philadelphia and Boston.

In Boston she appeared under the auspices of the Art Students' League in the dramatic pantomime, "Miriam," holding her audience for two hours without uttering a word save at the close. The Boston Post, after outlining the story, said: "This was all in pantomime, but was eloquently expressed. The dance was a graceful, rhythmic measure, and intended to be an exact reproduction of the forms represented on the friezes and in the statues and relics of ancient Egypt. Following this came Miriam in the robes of her sacred office, with the ancient ritual of worship, the "censer" dance around the altar and "dance of praise." This led to the pantomime portrayal of the horrors of the plague, the prayer for mercy and the granting of relief. The close was the dance of victory and triumph, and was highly interesting and beautiful, as displaying the grace of motion made possible by cultivation. Mrs. Stebbins was warmly applauded and received a number of floral gifts.

FIRE AT THE OCEAN HOUSE.

At 9:45 o'clock last night an alarm was rung in from box 53. There was considerable disagreement between people on the street as to just what box had struck, but the crowd, and it was a big one, gradually drifted up to the Ocean House which was enveloped in darkness, and presented a marked contrast to the bright appearance in which most people are accustomed to see it. The darkness was no more dense than the ignorance as to why the alarm had been struck, and the engines and crowds had assembled. There was evidently no fire, and those who had hastened lazy legs climbing the hill to see the first class blaze the Ocean House was expected to make were disappointed. Mr. Leland, the new proprietor, however, appeared to be well pleased with the absence of any special fiery exhibit as he evidently desires to make an impression on the city in a somewhat different manner.

It was learned that the chilly weather of yesterday made the interior of the big hotel rather uncomfortable, so Mr. Leland had a wood fire built in an open fireplace in the ladies' reception room. The fire ignited the soot in the chimney and as Sergeant Scott came up the avenue he saw that the iron pipe which tops the brick chimney top was red hot, and with an abundance of smoke about it. He sent in an emergency call, but on reaching the hotel thought there might be something more than a chimney fire, and rang in box 53. There was no fire, however, outside the chimney, and no special loss, though one of the servant girls fainted in the excitement.

—James H. Barker, driver of the Tiverton stage, seems to have bad luck recently. On Wednesday morning as he was coming up one of the wharves where he had been for a barrel of fish his horse shied and the wagon came in contact with a large pole. The horse left the wagon, breaking both shafts and the cross-bar. Mr. Barker was obliged to hire a wagon in which to continue his trip to Tiverton.

—At the Central Baptist Church last night Mrs. Mary A. Hunt, president of the National Aid Women's Christian Temperance Union, spoke on scientific instruction in the public schools, under the auspices of the local Women's Christian Temperance Union. The exercises were opened by the reading of scriptures by Rev. Mr. Wallace. Mrs. Hunt, who is a pleasing speaker, showed the advantage of scientific instruction on the temperance question for children and said that it had already been adopted by the public schools of thirty-nine states, Rhode Island being the second state to adopt it.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Twenty three friends and neighbors of Mrs. Robert T. S. Allen, Jr., went into her field of potatoes, containing about six acres, on Thursday, at 7 o'clock in the morning, and within two and a half hours had hoed out the field. Mrs. Allen wishes to extend to each and every one her hearty thanks for their kindness.

Mr. Marion M. Smith of Newport is visiting his sister, Mrs. Augustus L. Wilbur, at Lamont farm.

Mr. Robert T. S. Allen, Senior, who has been in feeble health for some weeks, is not improving any.

Mr. E. A. Coggeshall was in Providence on Wednesday purchasing doors and windows for two houses which he is building.

Mr. Hugh McCrone of Philadelphia is visiting his brother, Rev. H. W. McCrone, on Union street.

Mrs. Wanton T. Sherman is visiting relatives at East Greenwich.

Master Howard Bishop of Bristol Ferry is visiting his grandfather, Mr. William J. Barker, and family.

Miss Maude Steele of Newport is visiting her cousin, Miss Bertha Main, at the Glen farm.

Mrs. Alvin H. Sprague and daughter of Block Island is on a visit to Mrs. Sprague's father, Mr. George B. Harrington, and family.

Thursday evening Holy Cross Guild, connected with Holy Cross Church of Middletown, held a strawberry festival in Oakland Hall which was a postponement from Wednesday evening on account of the storm. There was a large attendance and the entertainment, which was given before the strawberry part was in order, was as follows: Piano solo, Mrs. Kempton; song, "Sparkling Rills," by St. Margaret's Guild; song, "Milking Time," John L. Simmons; recitation, "Entertaining Her Big Sister's Beau," Mary Cease; song, "Recompense," by Miss Botsford; violin solo, John O. Rogers of Newport; recitation, "Socrates Snooks," Miss Annie Sherman; song, "The Boys That we Need," by six boys; song, "Love's Old Sweet Song," Harry A. Tallman; recitation, "The Little Runaway," Miss Julia Simmons; song, "Mr. and Mrs. Snibbs," by Phebe Coggeshall and Seth DeBlois; harmonica music, by three little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Anthony; song, "A Woman's Pocket," by John L. Simmons; recitation, "Flying Jim's Last Leap," Miss Nettie Titus; piano duet by Miss Hazard and Miss Popple; song, "Sweet Marie," Harry A. Tallman; recitation, "Miss Moloney on The Chinese Question," Miss Champlin; song, "Marionettes," Miss Botsford; violin solo, Mr. Rogers; song, "Beautiful Birds in Spring Time," by sixteen Misses of St. Margaret's Guild; and the same sang a closing piece "A Plea for the Guild House," which was very appropriate as the proceeds of the evening are to be devoted to that purpose. The words sung were composed by Mrs. William Manchester of Middletown. The exercises being over the company was informed that the strawberries would be served in the room on the lower floor and the tables were soon filled. The affair passed off very pleasantly and the fine rendering of the different parts of the entertainment program left no room for special commendation of any particular piece. The evening was closed with dancing to the music of a piano, Charles I. Coggeshall acting as prompter.

Portsmouth Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, held its regular meeting in the Odd Fellows' lodge room on the same evening and were visited by several members of Nonquit Grange of Tiverton and a collation was served at the close of the meeting. The occurrence of the two events on the same evening drew together a large number of carriages and the grounds around the hall and the stable were none too large to accommodate them all.

Rev. George H. Butler, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of this town, assisted in the funeral services of Elijah S. Withey in Tiverton on Wednesday and afterwards accompanied the friends to Connecticut whither the remains were taken for burial.

Northumb & Washington's Jubilee Concert Company occupied Eureka Hall again on Thursday evening and played through their variety program to a very small audience, showing that sometimes the more you charge for admission to a performance the less money you will get. The company seem to have hard work to keep track of their banner, and last night it disappeared in a mysterious manner. They are now to proceed to other fields and perhaps will fare better, they certainly cannot do much worse.
